

NURS734 : Organizational Systems, Leadership, and Structure

The focus of this course is the structure and function of nursing administration within healthcare systems. Integrative models for the management and accountability required for high performing teams in patient-centered care are studied.

Credits 3